SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 6.

A BIG PAYMENT IN SILVER.—A report of the recent meeting of the Maine Historical Society contains the following:—The third paper of the session, by Mr. William Gould, was an account of William Vaughan and Piscataqua, Maritimus and Damariscotta. Vaughan was the projector of the Louisburg expedition of 1754, and a notable man in his day, having much to do with Government and mercantile affairs. The paper was a well considered article, clearing up some doubtful points in colonial history, and bringing to memory once more others that have been nearly forgotten. The unwieldy bulk of a silver currency was shown by the manner of reimbursement to the colonies for their outfit in the Louisburg expedition. After three years' delay the money was paid, amounting to $183,700. It was landed from the ship of war at Long Wharf, Boston, in the fall of 1749, in the form of 654,000 ounces, or over twenty tons of silver, and ten tons of copper coin. Silver then, and up to the middle of the present century, was the standard and regulator of value, but it was required to be of highest weight. Although the amount of the payment was only $800,000, it was contained in 215 chests, and probably it required twenty-five two horse wagons to transport the silver alone from the ship to the Province House. Except $16,000, which belonged to New Hampshire, the people of Massachusetts appropriated this money, with a further sum from the Province Treasury, to redeem their depreciated paper currency at its market value.
